A long haul 2 RCR returns from Bosnia

by Lt Lori Pothier

After 50 hours spent in trucks, busses, and a CF Boeing 707, the last members of the 2 Royal Canadian Regiment were finally back in Canada on May 15. They had served a demanding six-month tour in the former Yugoslavia, including three tense months in the heart of war-torn Bosnia-Herzegovina.

Several of the soldiers were met at Moncton airport, N.B., by family and friends, who were waving balloons and banners and sporting blue ribbons on their lapels. But many of the soldiers had more traveling ahead before they'd be reunited with their loved ones.

"I'm looking forward to seeing my wife and little girl, and then watching the hockey game and having a cold beer," said Cpl Brian Brophy. After a tour that included a hazardous mission in the besieged Bosnian town of Srebrenica, Brophy was no doubt going to enjoy that beer.

"It's pretty bad over there," said MCpl Sam Budd about Srebrenica. "People don't have a hell of a lot." Shoes are almost non-existent. People wear clothes made from supply drop parachutes. And children use discarded syringes as water pistols.

Despite the squalid conditions, the Muslim residents of Srebrenica found ways to thank the Canadian soldiers who came to their rescue. When the contingent entered the besieged town, children threw flowers while their elders shed tears of thanks.

Once settled into their checkpoints, the soldiers were brought home-cooked meals

In May, members of 2 RCR were instrumental in the evacuation of 700 people and in establishing a safe area for the people of Srebrenica.

by the women and were supplied firewood by the children. The women did their laundry as well. The Muslims were grateful because the presence of the Canadians brought fighting to a halt and allowed food supplies to get in.

But not everyone was grateful. Lt Craig Aitchison recalls his convoy being stoned while passing through the Serb-controlled town of Zvornik on the Serb-Bosnian border. "You know those large cinder blocks? They'd drop them off overpasses trying to hit us."

And there were other hazards. Near the end of the tour, MCpl Andrew Achtenberg was wounded by gunfire at a Canadian checkpoint. A round passed through both his legs. But he was stable enough to return with his unit and was then sent to the military hospital at CFB Halifax, N.S.

Despite the many difficulties, the battalion's commanding officer, LCol Thomas Geburt, considered the tour a success. "It's been a long haul. A very, very difficult tour for us," he said. "We changed areas quite a bit, our responsibilities changed constantly. But the soldiers are well-trained and I was proud of their performance."

Although they knew how important their contribution was, by the end of the tour the members of 2 RCR were glad to be heading home. "I was never so glad to see the Vandoos in all my life," said MCpl Gary Sabodash of the unit that replaced his.

This tour was the second United Nations mission for 2 RCR in the past two years: they returned from Cyprus in February 1992, just eight months before they left for Yugoslavia.

Be a blood donor

Every six seconds a Canadian Citizen requires a blood transfusion. Think about it. In the time it takes you to read this how many Canadians will receive a blood donation from the Red Cross? But of course that Canadian who requires blood every six seconds is only a statistic, right? It could never be you or someone in your family, right? Well think about it. If you don't agree or if you think that maybe it could be you who receives a blood transfusion, then do something about it. Be a Red Cross Blood Donor at the forthcoming Wing Clinic. It will be held

Letter To The Editor

"The following letter was received in appreciation of the eyeglass donations by 17 Wing personnel. Your continued participation in this most beneficial program is solicited. A drop-off box is displayed on the counter of the MIR Reception desk at the Medical Squadron for old prescription glasses, so root through those dresser drawers and bring in your old glasses that you are no longer using and give the gift of sight to those less fortunate."

OPERATION EYESIGHT UNIVERSAL

Head Office
Calgary, Alberta
Greetings:

Thank you for your donation of eyeglasses. We appreciate your thoughtfulness.

We have a dedicated team of volunteers who clean, sort and pack the thousands of glasses that are sent to our Calgary office. These glasses are then recycled to our program partners overseas, where they are catalogued and given to the poorest of poor people as part of our sight restoration program.

Each pair of eyeglasses makes a tremendous difference in the life of someone in the developing country. These glasses can make it possible for someone to return to work, to go to school, to look after a family again - and to do all the things that we sighted people take so much for granted.

In a letter from the Institute of Ophthalmology in Lima, Peru, Dr. Mesias writes: "We are now able to provide poor patients with glasses. We wish you could see how happy the patients are when they leave our Institute wearing their new glasses." Just as Dr. Mesias in Lima thanks you for your contribution to others' health and happiness, we at Operation Eyesight Universal also thank you for caring.

You have helped us to give the "Gift of Sight"!

Yours sincerely,
Alta McCauley
Eyeglass Program Coordinator

GREEN DAY AT 17 WING HQ

"If a tree falls in the forest does anybody hear it?"

by WO John Kelly

You may or may not hear it fall but when a tree is planted at 17 Wing Winnipeg everyone will hear and see it grow!!

The Staff at 17 Wing Headquarters recently pulled together and planted 32 Colorado Blue Spruce seedlings around Wing Headquarters. This was done to promote Green Day and make us all aware of the need to protect and preserve our environment. In conjunction with this tree planting several flower beds were planted near the entrances to Wing Headquarters. The flowers planted helped to accent the cheerful staff inside the building. All flowers were donated by the personnel who did the planting. THANKS GANG!

To add a little fun to the event each person was asked to "ADOPT A TREE" and to name it. This idea was well received by all and everyone had fun picking a name.

All Foster Parents were asked to abide by the 17 Wing HQ Horticulture Society pondering the responsibility of being foster tree parents.

following conditions or their name would be made public stating that they were unfit Foster Tree Parents and their outcome was out on a limb.

1. Foster Parents were responsible for their Baby Tree for one year.

2. They must ensure it is given plenty of water, especially during the hot summer weather ahead.

The success of the event was not possible without the hard work and cooperation given by all during the extremely hot and windy afternoon. Everyone put in an extra effort to ensure that the job was done in a very professional manner.

An official name plate indicating the Foster Parent and the name of the tree was attached to a wooden stake to mark the area against lawn mowers and to show ownership.

Col Proulx (the famous tree planter from La Visitation, Que.) showed us the proper way to plant our trees. He put out a challenge to all 17 Wing Headquarters staff to see if anyone could beat him at growing the tallest tree by 1 June 1994. A small prize will be awarded to the winner. Good Luck to All!

"I think the fishing worms are hiding behind this big tree."

Once again many thanks to all involved in the actual planting and a special thanks to CE Roads and Grounds for their tremendous help in supplying materials and tools to complete the job.

If A TREE FALLS AT 17 WING.....

THE WING COMMANDER WILL HEAR ABOUT IT !!!
A job well done !!

HEROES HUGE SUCCESS

On 25 May 1993 Colonel J.R.B. Proulx presided over a ceremony to recognize all those who made the HEROES Injury Prevention Week in April such a huge success. Major John Kimak (Wing Chairman) was presented with a Wing Commander's Commendation, "Doc" Lieutenant-Colonel Mark Tysiaczny (Chairman Air Command HEROES Injury Prevention Program), Commander Doug Caie (Air Command Public Affairs), and Captain Vic Holland (School Coordinator) received Canadian Injury Prevention Foundation Awards, and the team members, both military and civilian, were recognized with HEROES appreciation certificates signed by the Wing Commander. HEROES will be touring other bases commencing this fall.

MGen MacKenzie receives 1993 Vimy Award

MacKenzie attributes his winning the award to "a whole bunch of good soldiers"

by Lt(N) Dave Scanlon

Canada's internationally renowned peacekeeping general has been awarded the third annual Vimy Award by the Conference of Defence Associations Institute (CDAI). Retired Major-General Lewis MacKenzie was presented the award at a gala dinner in Toronto on May 28.

MacKenzie was selected as this year's winner because he "has proven himself to be an exceptional leader whose devotion to duty and courage under fire have brought great honour to himself and his country," and for his contribution as a peacekeeper to international peace and security, the CDAI announced.

The CDAI initiated the Vimy Award in 1991 "as a means of recognizing outstanding achievement and effort in the field of Canadian defence and security and the preservation of Canada's democratic values." The first recipient was Joe Clark, then minister of state for external affairs, for his contribution to international peace and security during the Gulf War

In 1992, it was awarded to retired General John de Chastelain, Canada's former chief of the defence staff, for his contribution to national security through a crucial period, which included the thawing of the Cold War, the Oka Crisis, the Gulf War, and a litany of peacekeeping missions.

MacKenzie says he attributes his winning the award to "a whole bunch of good soldiers" from Canada and other nations which he oversaw last summer as chief of staff for the United Nations Protection Force (UNPROFOR) in former Yugoslavia and as commander of an UNPROFOR contingent. He was also overall commander of Canada's forces in Yugoslavia.

During his 33 years in the military MacKenzie served on nine peacekeeping missions in six different areas: Israel, Cyprus, Vietnam, Egypt, Central America, and former Yugoslavia.

He achieved international acclaim during the latter mission as commander of the 31-nation contingent deployed to Sarajevo in May 1992. Despite constant sniper and artillery fire, the contingent, which included a Royal 22e Regiment battle group, established Sector Sarajevo and opened Sarajevo airport to humanitarian aid flights.

MacKenzie returned to Canada in August 1992 and was given command of the army's Land Force Central Area. But his constant engagements around the world as a commentator on peacekeeping, particularly on the situation in Bosnia-Herzegovina, led him to take early retirement in March 1993.

"I didn't notice much change," he says. "What I'm doing now is what I was doing in uniform, and that's why I felt so guilty because I wasn't spending my time in my day job. So it really hasn't been a big adjustment."

Upon his retirement there was rampant speculation in the media about what Canada's outspoken General would do next.

Retired Major-General Lewis MacKenzie (left), then commander of the UNPROFOR contingent that established Sector Sarajevo in May 1992, visits Sarajevo airport, the vital link he re-opened to humanitarian aid flights.

Many predicted he might join the Liberal or Conservative Party as a candidate in the next federal election.

However, instead of taking up politics, he joined the media. In April he was hired as a commentator on international affairs by Baton Broadcasting, a Canadian company which owns 19 television stations. He also became a senior research fellow with the Canadian Institute of Strategic Affairs.

MacKenzie continues to be in high demand as a commentator on the situation in Bosnia-Herzegovina. In early May, as the international community debated using force there, he appeared on CNN's Larry King Live for the second time, was contacted by almost every major broadcast news show in the United States, including 60 Minutes, and spoke at an international peacekeeping seminar in Ottawa.

The CDAI is the administrative arm of the Conference of Defence Associations (CDA), which was formed in 1932 and now includes 12 military associations comprising an estimated 30,000 serving and former military officers. It accepts nominations for the Vimy Award from the public as well as its associations. The winner is selected by a jury appointed by the CDA and CDAI.

17 WING WINNIPEG MEMBER WINS UNIVERSITY GOLD MEDAL!

The University of Manitoba Gold Medal in Science, awarded for the highest standing in the four year Bachelor of Science (Major) degree program, was awarded to Captain Michael Vienneau who majored in Computer Science.

A pilot staff member of Central Flying School for the past four years, Captain Vienneau is to be congratulated on his distinguished achievement, particularly because of the fact that he undertook his degree studies as a part-time student, commencing in September 1987 as a mature student in a Bachelor of Arts degree program. With his posting to Winnipeg in 1989, he transferred to the Faculty of Science and in a period of two years completed 63 hours of credit in Computer Science, equivalent to ten and a half full courses.

Captain Vienneau has been rewarded for his accomplish-

Capt Michael Vienneau ment with a transfer to Tyndall Air Force Base, Panama City, Florida, where he will be a computer programmer in the NORAD operations environment.

Michael Vienneau and his wife Lise (Ducharme) are originally from Sudbury, Ontario; they and their four children, Wendy, Jennifer, Steven and Kimberly departed for Florida during the last week of June.

MSE SAFETY PRESENTS... ACCIDENT OF THE MONTH

by W.R. Temple

Each accident involving a DND vehicle is fully investigated to determine the cause factors contributing to the collision. By understanding why the accident happened the accident investigator is able to recommend to those responsible how to prevent similar occurrences in the future. To that end, MSE Safety will occasionally publish the details of accidents, including the cause factors and appropriate preventive measures. This should not embarrass those involved in the accident as names and other specific information will be withheld. Hopefully it will make us think before we get behind the wheel of our car.

The following is a factual account of an actual collision between a DND vehicle and a privately owned motor vehicle (POMV). This accident description is presented in order to make all drivers aware of the dangers of backing.

The driver of a DND pick-up truck, towing a 16 foot boat and trailer, had driven on to a dock in order to launch the boat. He decided it would be more practical to back the boat trailer on the dock. The driver backed off the dock and proceeded to manoeuvre into a side road to his right. The side road was narrow and there were two POMV parked close to the intersection with the main road. Using his side mirrors to back he judged that although it would be close there was enough room to clear both vehicles. As he backed past the second POMV the boat and trailer tilted sideways striking the parked vehicle. The POMV sustained dents, scratches and a broken side window for an estimated repair cost of $1500.

Investigation of the accident revealed the side road was uneven, dipping in the middle.

It was the uneven road that caused the boat to tilt and strike the parked car.

You may think, "Interesting story but what could the driver have done to prevent the accident, wasn't he just unlucky?"

The driver was indeed unlucky. The more important question is, what could he have done to prevent the accident? First of all he should have surveyed the area he was planning to back into. This would have alerted him to the potential danger of backing past the parked cars. After a close up look our driver may have decided to wait for someone to guide him back or not back at all. Either of these possible choices may have prevented the accident and saved the taxpayer a large repair bill.

During the summer many of us will be towing trailers of various types. Backing a trailer is a risky maneuver at best. Here are a few tips for safe backing.

1. Always try to position your vehicle to eliminate the need to backup.
2. Only back when it is absolutely necessary.
3. Always walk around your vehicle checking the area where you plan to back.
4. When possible enlist the aid of a reliable guide. Communicate with your guide where you want to go and what signals to use.

Observe these simple rules and you will lessen the chances of a backing accident that may spoil your vacation.

Heritage in Space: Search & Rescue Satellite

(NC)—February 1993. Eleven crew members were rescued when the fishing vessel Cape Aspy went down off the Nova Scotia coast. September 1982. Searching for his son, a father lost control of his Cessna and hurtled into the Canadian Rockies. Three survivors were found.

The major player in these rescue operations was SARSAT, the Search and Rescue Satellite-Aided Tracking system. SARSAT was developed by Canada, France, and the United States to improve the chance of finding survivors of marine and aviation accidents. SARSAT works in cooperation with the similar Russian system COSPAS. Together these satellite systems have helped save more than 2000 people since they began operation in 1982.

There are currently six satellites in orbit, three SARSAT satellites and three COSPAS satellites. The satellites circle the Earth and can detect a distress signal beacon from anywhere in the world in less than three hours.

Once a satellite detects a radio signal from ships or aircraft, the satellite retransmits the signal to ground stations. These ground stations automatically receive and process the data and locate the general position of the signal. This information is then sent to a mission control centre which analyses the signal further and contacts the nearest Rescue Coordination Centre. The entire process, from satellite signal detection to notifying a rescue team is completed in approximately 20 minutes.

Major Peter Howe of the Canadian Search and Rescue mission control centre in Trenton, Ontario says, "The SARSAT system helps save time from alert to rescue, enabling us to get the search and rescue resources on the scene as soon as possible." For a country as vast as Canada, where it used to take days for a rescue centre to be notified that someone was overdue and missing, the SARSAT/COSPAS system is especially helpful.

Canada was involved with the SARSAT program when it first began in 1973. Since that time Canada has made many technological contributions to the system. One of the most important contributions was the repeater created by Spar Aerospace Limited. The repeater is the crucial device that receives the beacon distress signal from the missing ship or aircraft and retransmits that signal to the ground station. Spar also produces crash position locators that are SARSAT/COSPAS compatible. This beacon sends a distress signal that has an I.D.

Spar technicians Jocelyne Vadeboncoeur and Benoit Bédard assemble the receiver or transponder for Sarsat. The transponder receives and retransmits distress signals.

Using this I.D. number the mission control centre can access a database to determine the name of the owner and vessel, the crew information, and the type of survival equipment on the vessel. The I.D. number also helps mission control centres find out if the distress call is a false alarm. Hundreds of hours of search and rescue time has been saved because of this development.

Accident victims throughout the world have been saved with SARSAT. This international system provides quick and accurate crash location information that can mean the difference between life and death.

LIGHTNING FACTS

J.K. Meyers MCpl
CFS MET

Once again thunderstorm season is upon us and although the chance is small there is a possibility that someone may be killed or injured by lightning in Winnipeg this summer. I remember an incident in the early eighties when a man playing soccer in Assiniboine Park was struck and killed by lightning. Your chances of being struck by lightning remote as they are, increase with the amount of time you spend outdoors. If you take part in an outdoor leisure activity or work outside it would be wise to know a little about lightning.

Lightning is an enormous electric spark between the negatively charged base of a Cumulonimbus cloud (thunder storm cloud) and the positively charged ground. When the negative discharge from the cloud, known as the leader approaches the ground an upward flow of positive electrical charge, known as the return stroke rushes up to meet it. When a lightning stroke occurs it's temperature is about 15,000 degrees Celsius. This causes the air around it to heat and expand rapidly, causing the thunder that you hear. Only about twenty percent of lightning reaches the ground, with most occurring between positive a negative charges in the cloud itself. Lightning seeks out the conductive path of least resistance, and therefore usually strikes the tallest object in the vicinity.

This is all very interesting, but does not reduce your risk of being struck. If you are in the vicinity of a thunderstorm the best place to be is in a building. It does not provide one hundred percent protection if the building is struck because the electrical charge can travel through water pipes, telephone lines or electrical circuits. Do not touch radiators, telephones, or electrical equipment during a thunderstorm. It is also a good idea to disconnect electrical appliances such as televisions to reduce the risk of them exploding and starting a fire. A car also provides a measure of protection because the metal body conducts the charge around you before it arcs to the ground. Places to avoid are under an isolated tree, exposed hill tops, wide open spaces like boating on a lake, golf courses and sports fields. Holding a large metal object like an umbrella, golf club, or rifle also increases your risk of being struck. Small metal objects like keys, steel framed glasses, and zippers won't increase your chances of being struck, but can cause burns if you are struck. You can tell if the positive charge in the ground near you is beginning to stream upwards if your hair stands on end and metal objects begin to buzz. This is a warning that lightning may strike there so leave the area as fast as possible.

While you are enjoying our brief summer keep a weather eye for lightning. Use your common sense, but don't let this prevent you from watching one of nature's most powerful and spectacular phenomena. If you do get caught in a thunderstorm with its associated heavy rain shower and even hail try to remember that at least you don't have to shovel it out of your driveway.

music reviews and syndicated columnist

If you go to clubs, chances are, the songs you dance to are included in Club Cutz IV (BMG) a ten track outing of 12" mixes, extended and various other mixes that all come together in a nonstop mega mix. The first three Club Cutz have been extremely popular as a stand-alone sales tool and also as a way of introducing some of the biggest dance tracks to a wider audience.

Haddaway kicks Vol 4 into motion with What Is Love and, as the project is a mega-mix, the seque to the Chess dancer If You Leave Me Now is flawless. Rapination's Love Me The Right Way and the Sound Factory serve up solid dance grooves with 2 The Rhythm.

Every song is maximized for dance. Strong bass, solid hooks, infectious grooves and, of course, repetitive beats. Two of the best grooves here are Haddaway's Euro-pop and the Captain Hollywood Project's version of More & More. Great for dancing!

BILLY OCEAN

Born in Trinidad and raised in England, Billy Ocean has led a hit-studded career that includes writing songs for Lenny Williams, The Dells and LaToya Jackson. His version of Nights was included in the Jane Fonda Workout album that sold eight million. His international hits include Caribbean Queen, When The Going Gets Tough, Tear Down These Walls and, after five years, has just released his first studio album.

Led by the single Pressure and augmented by the dance groove of Pick Up The Pieces Ocean's Time To Move On (Jive/BMG) is one of those easily accessible sets designed to get you dancing. Songs have enough appeal to cross mainstream and contemporary hit. His ability to deliver songs like The World Wants To Dance with the compelling and lushly orchestrated Time To Move On means that the usual demographics will be pushed aside. Audiences should quickly embrace Ocean's Rose, a slow-paced love story the chanter brings home to the winner's circle. On Your Knees, Everything's So Different and Can We Go Round Again are also top-notch workouts. However, Rose is the blow-out track and should be a future single.

FAST FACTS

Antoine 'Fats' Domino is a legend in the music business. From his first chart hit (Ain't That A Shame) in 1955, through his last top-40 appearance in '63, (Red Sails In The Sunset), Fats Domino had over three-dozen top-40 hits, including such classics as Blueberry Hill, I'm Walking, I'm In Love Again and Blue Monday. He has sold millions of records, starred in such movies as Big Beat, Jamboree & The Girl Can't Help It. He was inducted into the Rock & Roll Hall of Fame, Grammy Hall of Fame and received the Lifetime Achievement Award. Ironically, he never had a #1 record.

A walk on the wildside

On Jun 10, as kick-off to Environment Week, Air Command 17 Wing Winnipeg arranged a tour of the St. Charles Range tall grass prairie conservation area. Led by John Morgan, of Prairie Habitats, the group of approximately 20 base personnel and guests were shown a delicate array of wildflowers and grasses, types that at one time covered 1.5 million acres of Manitoba prairie and now, of which considerably less than one percent remains. Much like the bisons that were wiped out in the 1800's, tall grass prairies were destroyed by land cultivation and buildings. It is therefore exemplary that Air Command has initiated the project to designate the St. Charles Range as an environmental conservation area to nurture this endangered ecosystem.

The tour program began at 1:30 p.m. in the Range Pavilion with a presentation of a video on what was once the "natural" in Manitoba and the changes that have taken place. Following the presentation, the group was led through the tall grass prairie conservation area, watching carefully not to trample a bird's nest, a tiny frog or delicate and rare wildflowers. One of the rarest of flowers noted was the lady's slipper with its intricate shape and bright yellow colour, growing among the Sweetgrass, Porcupine Grass, and Prairie Crocus. Mr. Morgan pointed out that some of these indigenous grasses were used for spiritual and medicinal purposes by Manitoba's aboriginal peoples. Research is currently being conducted on how these plants may benefit people today.

Colonel J.R.B. (Bert) Proulx, Wing Commander, who also attended the tour, stated that this is the Year of Environment at the Wing, and many projects are in process. In particular, the Vegetation Management Program at St. Charles Range is unique in the military environment and extremely important as a conservation project to preserve the tall grass prairie for future generations. Colonel Proulx also stated that it is important for people to be aware of their ecological heritage and to take part in ensuring that these rare species of grasses do not disappear.

The two hour tour concluded with Colonel Proulx thanking Mr. Morgan for his excellent commentary and appreciation to the group for their attendance and interest.

From the 18th to the 20th of June, I had the opportunity to observe the Wing Ground Search and Rescue (GSAR) team do the environmental clean up of Snowshoe Lake. I must say that I was tremendously impressed by the professionalism of the GSAR team during this operation.

Pte Penney with the one that didn't get away.

Snowshoe lake is located some 50 kilometres northeast of Lac du Bonnet on the Ontario/Manitoba border. It is accessible either by air, or by canoe with six challenging portages. This area had been used since the 1950's until recently by the CFB Winnipeg GSAR team. Over the years, there had been a substantial accumulation of barrels and non-combustible garbage of all sorts. The Base abandoned this site a few years ago in favour of another facility formerly used by CFS Beausejour.

The GSAR team, under the leadership of Capt Barron, felt that it was their duty to return this site to its natural beauty - this was a major clean-up operation. Attempts which were made over a year ago were unsuccessful when the helicopter assigned to sling the garbage out to the nearest dump at Lac du Bonnet became unavailable. The operation was postponed, ironically, until this year, the "Year of the Environment" at 17 Wing Winnipeg. A request for airlift support from 408 Sqn (Edmonton) was granted by Air Command, who tasked that Squadron to provide a Twin Huey helicopter.

So, having just completed a one week search for missing boaters, the GSAR team redeployed immediately by canoe to Snowshoe Lake. Three days were spent bagging and ferrying garbage bags and empty barrels by canoe to a nearby island where the slinging operation could take place safely.

Friday morning the helicopter arrived, crewed by Capts Robertson, Williams and Cpl Metland. After a brief overflight and familiarization of the area, the slinging began. The first load was assembled in record time and two brave technicians, MCpl Bob Laurin and Cpl John Robinson, volunteered to act as ground crew to hook up the load. Twenty minutes later, the slung load arrived at the dump site where a second crew had been prepositioned to handle the arriving freight. The operation continued until 1700 hrs, with a short interlude for a refuelling stop at Lac du Bonnet. The crew then returned to Winnipeg for the evening. Saturday morning the helicopter crew returned to finish the operation. Again, slinging was carried out in record time and in total safety. At the end of the operation, the helicopter crew expressed their gratitude for the professionalism and cooperation of the GSAR by taking them for a short flight over the area.

How much further? Where is the chopper? WO Kardynal, Pte Doucet and Capt Williams.

SNOWSHOE LAKE

Cpl Follack and MCpl Laurin begin a 300 m portage.

It's portage time!

When I thought that the exercise was finally over and we could relax and fish a little, Cpl Andre Chartier and Cpl Jan Jilly organized a ground search exercise through the densest bush I have ever seen. After fighting hordes of giant "MOOSE" QUITOES, we finally found the coveted prize, a case of refreshment, which was a welcome sight after a long day's work.

Sunday morning we broke camp early and headed back. After at least three difficult shuttles per portage, we finally arrived at the main road where WO Kardynal, who had handled the garbage disposal site the previous two days, was waiting for us with vehicles. What a welcome sight! Within five minutes on the road, all the GSAR members were sound asleep, tired but very proud of their contribution to 17 Wing's Environmental Clean Up.

MCpl Matkowski and Cpl Gilley in their canoe.

The fact that the crew responded so well to this challenge immediately after having completed a demanding week searching with the RCMP speaks volumes of the total dedication and professionalism of all the GSAR members. Well done!!

The Cold War: a Soviet view

by Vadim Fotinov

(Vadim Fotinov, a former Soviet radio and television bureau chief and the son of an air force pilot, offers his view from the East of the Cold War. Fotinov now lives and works in Ottawa as a commentator on Soviet affairs.)

For most of us over 30, "Cold War" was much more than just another witty expression coined by politicians and their speechwriters. It was a way of life, a way of thinking, and a way of serving in the army. It was especially not just a cliché for someone like me from a military family who, later in life, did his civic duty by serving two years in the Soviet army.

Probably nothing struck closer to home than the Cuban missile crisis. Nine years old at the time, I still remember only too well those two weeks in October 1962. I remember those long miserable hours that we, the children of Soviet air force pilots stationed in Poland, spent waiting for our fathers — our mothers' eyes red with silent crying and their incoherent explanations that "Your daddy will soon be home."

Meanwhile, our daddies were spending days and nights in the cockpits of their fighter-bombers, ready to strike NATO targets in Western Europe. Suddenly, the Cold War was getting very hot, reducing the entire world to the size of our families. In Ottawa, decades later, I met a British pilot who told me much the same story. How he, back in those haunting autumn days, was sleeping beside his bomber waiting for orders to strike back against the Soviets.

Fortunately, sanity and wisdom prevailed. But as time passed and the children of the Cuban missile crisis grew up, they

American soldiers — who jointly liberated Europe from Nazism and struck up friendships which survived even the coldest spells of the Cold War — how come they so quickly found themselves facing each other through gunsights?

Fortunately, this madness is now over. But its memory persists. Among those to whom the Cold War proved often to be quite "warm" and at times outright "hot," were those serving in the air force and navy. Many "close encounters of the Cold War kind" — high in the skies or deep in the oceans — will never be known. Mere glimpses of these encounters cannot but impress and frighten — so many times the world was so close to major conflict, major confrontation.

To me, the Cold War was not only the missile crisis, but also photos of NATO planes metres away from Soviet strategic bombers, or of American jets almost touching the antennae of Soviet aircraft carriers. But these photos were always carefully concealed from the Soviet public — whose leaders always believed that in such matters the people's knowledge was a liability.

The Cold War was also a recorded conversation between a control tower and the pilot of a Soviet fighter intercepting a NATO intruder over the Black Sea. The pilot, a young lieutenant, informed the tower that he had used all his ammunition and was getting ready to ram the intruder.

This was back in mid-1960s, and the case went down in the history of modern aviation as the first successful ramming of the jet era. The young pilot was awarded, posthumously, the country's highest award — "Hero of the Soviet Union." His last words were, "I serve the Soviet Union".

Was he a victim of Soviet propaganda or a true soldier who honoured his oath to serve loyally the country, the nation and the cause? I, for one, think he was a good soldier worthy of respect — even by his enemy. I often recalled this tape when I was serving in the air force, first on the Soviet-Chinese border, and then in East Germany. The potential enemy was always very real and very close.

Such are some of the snapshots from my "Cold War album" — fears, anxieties and memories which, I am sure, were shared by many on both sides of the Iron Curtain. It was with a genuine sigh of relief that I listened to the proclamations of world leaders that the Cold War was officially dead.

The Cold War may be over, but the level of worldwide military spending continues to be high — almost $2 million per minute — and old fears and stereotypes die hard.

Today when I read about yesterday's enemies participating jointly in UN peacekeeping operations in Europe, Africa, Asia, and the Middle East, I envy the good luck of those serving the armies of one-time enemies, the good luck of experiencing friendship and camaraderie — something we, the soldiers of the Cold War, were denied. Wouldn't it be nice to set up yet another joint force, a kind of a "medical" team, to make sure that nobody in the world again catches the dreadful "Cold War" cold?

17 WING JUDO CLUB UPDATE

by Sgt Steve Broughton
 President

It's official. The Recreation council voted the club into existence on the 16 June 93. Classes will begin the week following the annual Recreation Fair which is to be held in Bldg 21 September 11 between 1000 and 1400 hrs.

The recreation fair will be the club's Registration Day. Annual Fee for adults is $40 plus GST, youth (8-15) $20 plus GST. A demonstration will be held so that people will know what they are getting into. The head Sensei (instructor) Mr Brian Jones plus his four assistant black belts will be there to answer any questions. Also a number of women and youth Judokas (students of Judo) will be there to show that Judo is for everyone.

Now that the club is official, I need help to run it. Captain Terry Smith of CFANS kindly volunteered to be Vice-President. If anyone else can find a little extra time to be a part of the founding club's executive please call me.

For those who will be new at the sport, it is probably best that you wait a month or two before you buy a Judogi (uniform). Just in case you find that Judo was not meant for you. However after you have decided you like the sport, you will have to buy a Judogi or you will not be able to progress. Judo gis can be bought at Athletes Wear for $40 to $60 depending on size. You will have to buy the heavyweight as the lightweight is designed for Karate. Also be aware that the GIs are 100% cotton and will shrink, so it is usually wise to buy a size or two larger than you need especially for kids

Times for our classes have not been set yet. I have asked for Mondays 1900 - 2030 hrs for youth. Mondays 2030 - 2200 hrs and Thursdays 1900- 2100 for adults. The WPERO's Time Allocation meeting is in August, so I won't know what has been decided until then. As a reminder all club members other than Military will require a Recreation Pass, $40 for families, $22 single.

The amount of interest in the club continues to grow, more than 80 people have approached or called me and most if not all are very enthusiastic, I hope to see all of you on registration day. Please call me at loc 5214 or home 897-0630 or if you wish to chat about Judo and the club, I work at Hgr 16 WMET.

CFANS Update - Instructors starve students

Last week, the students at CFANS undertook the daunting task of playing the instructors in the annual Staff-Student Soccer Challenge. As has come to be expected in these matches, the staff thoroughly dominated enroute to a one-sided 4-1 victory. The victors were buoyed by particularly strong performances from Capts Mark Cookson and Doug Lawrie. Said a reflective member of the winning squad, Capt Joe "NIFO" Goodyear, "Maybe next time we should play darts, cards, or something that is more suited to their ability to remain motionless for extended periods of time."

On a curious note, the uncanny similarities between two of the newest standards officers has come to the attention of their fellow workers. It appears that Capt Bert Fenton and Capt Bert "T-13" Troisfontaines share not only their name and office, but also the same birthday. In an attempt to avoid confusion and help them accentuate their individuality, co-worker Capt J.J. Tremblay emphasized that although it is true that the two Berts were both born on the 18th of June, the actual date of their birth was most likely separated by several years, if not decades. "Fent and T-13," said J.J. in reference to their different approaches to grooming, "as anyone can tell, are from different generations."

"Hey! What can I say? I'm single and I can afford the couple of extra bucks for a decent haircut," quipped Fenton when asked about Tremblay's comment.

Overheard on a recent nav detail, "Hey Bob where did you put those meals?"

"Meals? I Thought you had the meals."

According to Capts Brad Coates and Marc Moffatt, it appears that CFANS innovator Capt Bob Murphy has recently been doing a trial run on yet another amendment to the flying syllabus by not taking food on a recent trip. Said Murphy in an attempt to cover up his oversight, "I know the students work better when they're hungry, so I thought it might help Coates and Moffatt."

Also in the allegedly true, but probably fictitious, department 9208's OCdt Kyle Rosenlund, according to his course mates, made a disheartening realization upon his return home to Ottawa for leave. Apparently, much to Kyle's dismay, he discovered that in the Nation's Capital, much like Winnipeg, 4 out of 5 women still say, "No thanks I've really got to wash my hair tonight."

On a more credible subject congratulations to Capt Rich Mackinnon on his promotion to Major. Well done Rich! Later this summer, "Major" Mackinnon will be moving to Ottawa for his next posting, where he will be flying the BD4D (Big Desk Four Drawers) at NDHQ.

Bravo Zulu! to the graduating members of course 9206. Congratulations on a job well done, and best of luck on your prospective OTU's (Operational Training Units).

Best wishes also to former transport section commander Capt Joe Dickie. Joe is departing to the former Yugoslavia as part of the Canadian UN contingent.

Last, but certainly not least, Welcome to CFANS! from Commandant LCol Leclerc, and the rest of the school, to recent staff arrivals Capt "Spike" Kavalench, Greg Niemczyk and Lt Jason Neale.

FIERS D'HIER ET LA POUR DEMAIN

Depuis que je me souviens
On vit entre un oui puis un non Entre ceux qui perdent le goût et remettent leur démission
Et puis ceux qui perdent la tête au nom d'une révolution
Mais depuis que je me souviens

Toi et moi, nous tenons le coup
Fiers d'hier et là pour demain
On a tenu bon au creux de la vague
On a tenu bon au creuset des flammes
Toi et moi, on est là pour demain
Toi et moi

Depuis que je me souviens
On a l'embarras du choix
On peut choisir de pas déplaire et de simplement se laisser faire
Choisir le respect de la loi ou le respect de soi
Mais depuis que je me souviens
Toi et moi, on fait du chemin
Fiers d'hier.....

Toi et moi, nous portons une vision
Un héritage de foi
Qui nous dit d'où l'on vient
Qui nous dit où l'on va
Parfois on n'en peut plus
On semble perdre pied
Mais le terrain qu'on gagne
S'appelle "Liberté"
Liberté

Depuis que je me souviens
On court entre deux réunions
En jonglant les priorités, en créant des sous-comités
Pendant qu'on se fait annoncer qu'on vient encore de se faire couper

Mais depuis que je me souviens
Toi et moi, on veut pas lâcher
Car depuis qu'on se souvient
Notre richesse s'appelle "Communauté"
Fiers d'hier et là pour demain
On a tenu bon au crew~ de la vague
On a tenu bon au creuset des flammes
Toi et moi, on est là pour demain
Nous n'oublions jamais
Nos victoires et nos revers
C'est eux qui nous rappellent
Ce que l'on a de plus cher
Fiers d'hier et là pour demain (3)
Toi et moi

Le Cercle Molière

La saison 92-93 tire à sa fin, et oui, elle a fini en beauté, même si l'assistance à QUAND ON A QUE L'AMOUR a été faible. LES BELLES-SOEURS, JE REVIENDRAI APRES MINUIT, DELMAS SASK. ET JEUNESSE A LA UNE ont tous connu beaucoup de succès. Il y a eu de la controverse aussi, bien sûr, mais le CM apprécie le soutien de ses amis dans la communauté franco-manitobaine. Sans vous pour nous aimer et nous critiquer, nous ne serions pas là!

Et déjà, nous planifions la saison 93-94. A l'affiche dans la série Classique: ZONE de Marcel Dubé (un classique du théâtre québécois), TOASTE DES DEUX BORDS de Janine Tougas (le Manitoba vu d'un oeil satirique, comique et juste) et HAUTE FIDELITE de Ray Conney (une histoire folle, folle, folle mettant en vedette Vincent Dureault). La série Café-Théâtre comprend LE CHIEN de Jean-Marc Dalpé (médaillon du Gouverneur Général pour meilleur texte, 1987: auteur franco-ontarien) et LA VIE LE HOCKEY de Kenneth Brown (André Roy revient dans ce "one-man-show" humoristique.

Réabonnez vous dès aujourd'hui. Rendez-vous au Cercle Molière pour des soirées de spectacles pour tous!

Prix RIEL

Le Prix Riel est un hommage rendu annuellement par la Société franco-manitobaine à des Franco-manitobains et à des Franco-manitobaines dignes de mérite.

Si vous connaissez un individu dans la communauté digne de ce mérite, procurez-vous un formulaire de nomination auprès des caisses populaires et des personnes contactées en région ou appelez la SFM au 233-4915 ou au 1-800-665-4443. Date limite: le 30 septembre 1993.

Chers nouveaux-arrivants,

Le personnel du centre de ressources des familles militaires ainsi que ses nombreux bénévoles tiennent à vous souhaiter la bienvenue à Winnipeg et veulent vous inviter à vous joindre à eux pour discuter autour d'un bon café. Les pauses-café sont une excellente opportunité pour nous de vous rencontrer et de discuter avec vous des différents services et programmes existants. Nous aimerions connaître également quelles ressources ou services vous aimeriez avoir sur la base.

Les pauses-café sont des rencontres amicales en toute simplicité et nous en avons cédulées à différentes périodes de la journée afin que tous et chacun de vous puissiez y assister. Des personnes-ressources de la communauté seront disponibles pour vous communiquer de l'informations en français et en anglais.

Bienvenue à tous A bientôt!

AU REVOIR!

C'est l'époque de l'année la plus triste, où plusieurs d'entre nous perdent leurs chers amis qui quelquefois remplacent la famille.

Alors, c'est avec une grande peine au cœur que je voudrais leur dire au revoir et surtout leur souhaiter une bonne chance dans leur prochain posting, et peu être à bientôt.

Aussi, un grand merci à tous les volontaires Francophones et Anglophones, qui ont beaucoup aidé notre communauté militaire.

MERCI A TOUS.

AU REVOIR CHERS AMIS ET UN GRAND MERCI de la part de tous les francophones. Au revoir Monique et Merci.

Une communication positive — savez-vous?

(NC)—Les enfants réagissent souvent bien mieux aux changements quand les parents les préviennent. Des avertissements comme "Au lit dans cinq minutes" ou "Dans quelques minutes, on s'habille pour l'école" favoriseront une plus grande collaboration et moins de résistance de la part des enfants.
